RESULTS FROM OUR 28TH ANNUAL SURVEY OF SOPHISTICATED TRAVELERS

Readers' Favorite Hideaways, Hotels and Resorts

OUR ANNUAL READER SURVEY IS BY FAR THE longest-running and most reliable poll of its kind among affluent and sophisticated travelers. The readership of Hideaway Report remains an exceptionally well-traveled group. This year's respondents vacation an average of 38 days a year, and 70 percent say they plan to travel the same amount or more in the coming 12 months.

This year, we altered and extended the format of our survey. We introduced five new categories: "Beach Resorts," "Food & Wine Resorts," "City Hotels," "Spas," "Golf Resorts" and "Family Resorts." This resulted in the inclusion of many less familiar names and the shedding of new light on established favorites. For example, The Cloister at Sea Island, Ga., is well-known for golf (#3), but its spa also wins high praise (#8).

For the third year in a row, The Peninsula Chicago sits atop the city hotels, even though we expanded this category to include city hotels worldwide. And California's Post Ranch Inn, a magical sanctuary in a glorious setting on the cliffs of Big Sur, again took first place in the contest for No. 1 U.S. Hideaway.

All of our new categories assess properties worldwide. As a result, Four Seasons Hualalāi in Hawaii tops the beach resorts, followed by Esperanza (Cabo San Lucas, Mexico) and Cap Juluca (Anguilla). And for family stays, The Cloister in Georgia and The Greenbrier in West Virginia edged out Little Dix Bay (Virgin Gorda, BVI). Unsurprisingly, West Coast properties did well in the new spa category, though the victor's laurels went to Canyon Ranch in Tucson, Ariz. Curiously, the top two food and wine properties, Meadowood and Auberge du Soleil, are located just five miles apart in the Napa Valley.

We were only slightly surprised to learn that our readers' favorite golf resort is The Sanctuary at Kiawah Island, S.C., but Bandon Dunes, Ore., placing at #4 ahead of Pinehurst, N.C., was unexpected. And we were frankly incredulous that no British or Irish golf resorts made it into the Top 20. The folk at St Andrews and Gleneagles may need to pour themselves a sustaining dram! The New Zealanders will be happy, however, as both The Lodge at Kauri Cliffs (#6) and The Farm at Cape Kidnappers (#14) easily made the cut.

We also asked readers to tell us about their favorite new discoveries and the most disappointing properties that they had recently visited. Alas, the results were too scattered to form meaningful lists. However, there was some consensus: Montage, Beverly Hills; The Resort at Pelican Hill, Newport Beach, Calif.; and the Al Maha Desert Resort & Spa, Dubai, all received flattering reviews and became candidates for an incognito Harper visit.
